Another Car Scrap Ready

Scrap Iron and Rubber Collected

Fifth Car of Scrap Iron Is Ready, and Two Truck Loads of Tires Gathered

Scrap metal and rubber are still coming into Canyon in large quantities.

Another carload of iron has been processed and ready for shipment when called for by the government. A. A. Kirkpatrick is handling the iron for processing and shipment.

Two truck loads of old casings have been hauled to Amarillo this week. In spite of the intense rubber drive made several weeks ago, old casings still are being brought to the salvage depot at the Consumers Fuel Association. The rubber is greatly needed by the government for various kinds of war work.

All who have scrap metal are urged to haul it to the salvage depot in Canyon as soon as possible.

The News received a telegram from Donald Nelson Wednesday morning as follows:

"The government is asking the American farmer to dedicate the remaining weeks of 1942 to an intensified scrap hunt. Steel mills need more heavy scrap and the farms are one of the best sources of this type of metal. We need your help in this farm drive, and ask that you aid the Salvage Committee to continue this effort throughout the next few weeks."

Cold Wave Drops Mercury to 18 Monday Morning

The coldest wave of the year hit the Panhandle Friday. The temperature was 80 degrees above zero Thursday, just like a summer day. The temperature was 74 degrees Friday morning, and held there until almost noon when the wind changed to the north, and the mercury started to fall.

The thermometer stood at 35 degrees at 5 o'clock.

The wind blew hard from the north during Saturday morning, and the mercury continued to drop. The reading showed 20 degrees Sunday morning and 18 degrees Monday morning. These were the hardest freezes of the winter.

Since Monday the temperature has moderated to a considerable extent.

Split Tax Must Be Paid Before End of November

Randall county tax payers who have been accustomed to using the split tax payments have only a few more days in which to pay the first half of their taxes.

This payment must be made on or before Nov. 30. The last payment will not be due until June 30.

Many large property owners used this system of payments before the state and county offered the discount system for payments. However a number of property owners still use the split tax system.

1507 Cars Are Ready for Gas

Those Not Registered May Do So at Rationing Office; Gas Ration Starts Dec. 1

A total of 1507 automobiles was the registration for gasoline rationing at the school houses Thursday through Saturday.

Car owners who have not registered for gasoline ration books books should do so at once. This registration is at the War Price and Rationing office on the second floor of the court house.

Many car owners have filed applications for additional gasoline. The gasoline panel of the Rationing Board is studying these applications. Citizens who feel that they need and are entitled to additional gasoline may make application on the blanks which are available at the office.

Gasoline rationing will start Dec. 1 according to information from Washington. Congressmen from western states have petitioned that rationing be postponed until January 1, but so far no change has been made for the date of rationing to become effective.

Those who have not registered their cars and secured the ration coupon book will not be able to buy gasoline starting next Tuesday.

Former Citizen Found Dead Near Borger on Sunday

Cecil Newberry, a former Canyon man, was found dead near Borger Sunday morning. Foul play is suspected by the officers, but so far no clues have been uncovered. The body was about 75 feet from the hikhway, and indications were that it had been dragged part of the distance. Newberry had suffered from heart trouble for some time.

Three hunters, with their bird dogs, discovered the body and reported to the officers.

A daughter, Mrs. Gene Zachry of Tulsa, Okla., arrived Monday. A son, Gene Newberry, is at Hot Springs, N. M.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at Borger. Mrs. Ed Mickle and E. W. Woods attended from Canyon.

GASOLINE PILLS

Canyon News: The new racket in the East is gasoline pills. A dead car is pushed up to a service station; the owner calls for water to be placed in his gas tank; he drops in a couple of pills, and starts the engine. Naturally everyone around wants to buy some of the pills, and he does a good business. However, he forgets to tell them of the partition in his gas tank, and that the doped water does not reach his motor. Every critical situation brings on a crop of grafters with new gadgets with which to fleece the unsuspecting public.

State Press in Dallas News: What will they think of next? State Press is awfully glad he read this item all the way through and didn't stop near the halfway mark. Because, being a child of the Twentieth Century even if he were born, technically, back in the Nineteenth, he feels himself a child of science and easily puts his trust in atoms, molecules, tablets, pills and vitamins. For all State Press knows there may be a magic pill which, when placed in water, will unloose untold horsepower for the motorist. But if any there be, now is the time, come Dec. 1, when they would come in mighty handy.

No one can successfully claim that liquor is of any great benefit to any singe individual, and thousands of cases can be pointed out in which liquor has been the downfall of both men and women. National prohibition was made possible in 1918 as a war measure. President Roosevelt is being urged to again declare national prohibition as a war measure. He is not likely to do so, since he has always opposed prohibition. With millions of young men in army camps, parents are worried about the liquor problem among these young men. Army officers have maintained that they have plenty of authority to handle the situation among the men, and do not wish to police the morals of civilians around every army camp. One denominational convention has petitioned the President to declare for national prohibition. But Baptist ministers who are now army chaplains declared in the State convention last week that drinking among soldiers was exaggerated. Another Baptist leader, Dr. Alfred Carpenter, superintendent of army camp work, declared: "While we need liquor control around army camps, our chief concern for the morals of the nation is our civilian drinking. It is unfair to pass the buck to service men, and unfair to put the blame on the military." Which leads us to recall the words of a well known citizen of Canyon a few years ago: "So long as the prohibitionists patronize the bootleggers and the church members go on their bonds, we cannot except liquor enforcement." While there is liquor around, we shall continue to have trouble; but what is the effective method of getting rid of liquor?

Congraulations are due to the West Texas State Buffaloes for the fine football season which closed Friday. Two new coaches assumed charge of the squad at the beginning of the season. The coaches knew little of the ability of the men, and the men knew nothing of the system of the coaches. The squad was small in comparison with squads of many other colleges. The boys met Tech in the first game of the season and were handed a disheartening defeat of 39-0. The boys and the coaches found themselves as a result of this game, and the next five games were won. Then came Hardin-Simmons, the Buffs fell before that mighty team, but the boys came back and won the last two games. Winning seven games out of nine is a very fine record. The Buffs will stand third or fourth in the Border Conference, which is a great record considering the fine teams which were played this year. It is altogether likely that all schools will disband athletics for the duration, owing to the large number of men being taken into the armed service and the strict ration programs being set up, and if so, Buffalo followers have the happy memory of a very successful football season in 1942.

America is the melting pot of the people of the world. In this nation there are settlements of people from practically every nation. Today most of the nations of the world are engaged in the war. It has long been recognized that the peace settlement after this war will be of great importance as winning of the war on the battle field. America cannot run away from its obligation of writing a fair peace treaty, and seeing to it that the fair peace terms are enforced. A good suggestion has been made: That patriotic men and women from all nations who are now enjoying the Democratic way of life be trained in our colleges and universities for a peace program; that they be sent to these institutions now and trained for the after war program among their own peoples in their native lands. Italians would be trained to return to Italy; Greeks to return to Greece; etc. It is feared that unless we point the way to something better, the embittered nations of Europe, Asia and Africa will be at each others throats again in a few years.

It is hard to justify a filibuster at any time, much less in the time of war when Congress has need to be working on war problems instead of stirring up political hatreds. But in the case of the poll tax fight, members of Congress from the eight poll tax states are justified. Theirs is a fight to prohibit the extension of federal control over states in a matter which is no one's business outside of the states involved. No claim is made that the people of Texas are being enslaved or deprived of any state or federal benefits because they are called upon to contribute something to the school fund of the state, and thereby have the right to vote. If there are any citizens who feel that way about it, they can move to one of 40 other states, and Texas will not weep about it. This is another case in which the New Dealers set out to do some more reforming before the election of 1944—when the New Deal will most likely be removed from power.

We cannot contemplate the feeling of a Frenchman like Lavel who is willing to sell his nation out to the enemy for the mere promise of a reward—when the war is won. Looking scornfully at Lavel from this distance is an easy matter; but is he any worse than an American who lays down on his job during the war; strikers in defense jobs; wasters of time and money in non-essentials; those who wreck or wear out their cars in useless driving; those who hoard essential commodities which the government needs; those who refuse to pay their taxes, or buy War bonds? Let's all take a look at our own sins before condemning Lavel who was tempted by a rich reward—even though Hitler will never be able to deliver the reward.

Military experts are now becoming a little more daring in their guesses as to when the war will be over. Most of them are now saying that Hitler will be disposed of by the fall of 1943, and the Japs a year later. That is, of course, if America can get enough men and supplies across to finish up the job in that time. All of which means that there can be no let up on the part of any citizen.

We call ourselves the United Nations. We got that way on December 7, 1941, when Japan attacked America. Before that time our hearts were with the Allies, but we were not vitally interested in wiping out the misdoing of the brutes which were leading the Axis. Wonder if we will remain the United Nations after the war is won? Or will we drift off in our several directions and allow the war lords of Germany, Italy and Japan to hatch up another war?

"Horse" Given Museum

Childress Banker Has Sent Unique Display Long Used There

A papier-mache horse, having real hair, mane and tail and appearing so realistic that most persons are deceived at first glance, has been placed in the Panhandle-Plains Museum here.

The gift came from J. Martin Crews, president of the First National Bank at Childress.

From 1907 until recently the model horse was used in the display of harness and saddles at the Norris Implement Company Store of Childress. It is sturdily made on a wooden base and is mounted on a moveable frame. Resting on the main Museum floor near the startlingly realistic statue of Fred Scott, oldtime cowboy, the horse makes an effective display. The saddle shown is the first made in Amarillo. This was built for John Arnot. The bridle, of black and white horse hair, was made by Judd Campbell, foreman of the JA Ranch, about 1883. Campbell hired a Mexican to make a hair bridle for Mrs. Campbell, then plaited one himself as he watched the Mexican work. The blanket, a Navajo, is from the Susan J. Allen collection.

The "horse" was made by the Toledo Display Horse Company of Toledo, Ohio. It is strong enough to carry a 200-pound man and has been used in many parades.

BETTY WHITLOCK ON MUSEUM "HORSE"

It's hard to write an optimistic Thanksgiving sentiment in 1942. As a nation we have much for which we can be thankful, but the minds and hearts of all our citizens are with our fighting forces scattered around the world today, rather than rejoicing at home for a degree of prosperity. With the American forces on the march, we can certainly be thankful that we are not in the boots of either Hitler, Mussolini or Tojo.

Most people are willing to admit that they have forgotten all about the depression. But it is ridiculous to contemplate that it took a war—that death, destruction, suffering, pain, were the vehicles to bring back a sense of prosperity in the life of this nation.

Have you noticed the increasing number of $2 bills now in circulation. Since the race tracks are closed, this bill is no longer needed in limited sections for gambling purposes.

Ag Students Are To Attend Annual Turkey Exhibition

Students of the West Texas State College department of agriculture will attend the Southwestern Dressed Turkey Show in Plainview on December 9.

For several years classes in poultry raising have been taken to the Plainview show by Prof. Frank R. Phillips, head of the college department.

Some of the values received by the students in these shows have been listed by Prof. Phillips as follows:

1. Hearing such specialists as Prof. D. H. Reed of Texas A. & M. College.
2. Study of live birds from the standpoint of desirable breed types for this region.
3. Hearing lectures by the judge of dressed turkeys together with examination of the birds and discussions of government experts.
4. Demonstrations conducted by the home demonstration agents in cooperation with A. & M. extension specialists. In these the students learn means for preparing for the college poultry examinations.
5. Studying the superior quality of birds, particularly the full-breasted type which has made the Plainview show famous.

An invitation for the students to visit the show this year has been received from Lewis Jurcak, general superintendent.

FAITH in the Future

Although we live in a streamlined age devoid of the simpleness of Puritan life, we still possess much the same fear and faith in the future as the Puritan had. While the Puritan overcame fear by trusting in God and his flintlock, people today need not depend on powder and shot to protect himself and his family from his neighbor. Instead, they look to their Bank to insure them safety, and to guarantee their future security.

Show your faith in the future of America by investing in War Stamps and Bonds.

CONGRESS AND SOUTH AMERICA DISCUSSED IN BOOK CLUB

Congress and the South American neutrals were the subjects of study when the Woman's Book Club met in the Thompson Club Room on Wednesday, November 18.

Mrs. H. A. Brown gave a digest of opinion on the subject "Has Congress Turned Over a New Leaf?" Her discussion seemed to show that in the future political differences would definitely be shelved in favor of prosecuting the war.

Mrs. Ray Campbell spoke on "What of the South American Neutrals?" She pointed out that economic factors are hindering a complete understanding between our nation and the neutrals of South America, but the situation seems now to be more hopeful.

During the business session that followed the club heard reports from Mrs. C. M. Dowlen and Mrs. A. K. Knott regarding the recent meeting of the Coordinating Council. In line with the recommendations of that body the club president, Miss Irene Angel, urged club members to cooperate with the Red Cross in completing the comfort kits now on hand. A sum of $5 was voted for this purpose.

As further aid in the war effort the club voted to buy a $25 War Bond, same to be donated to the Library Building Fund.

The bridegroom attended school at Ryan, Oklahoma. At present he is employed at Ady, Texas where the couple will make their home.

The infighting was hot, so Big Joe, member of a colored regiment, pulled out his favorite weapon, a long, well-honed straight razor. He made a pass at his Jap opponent.

"Missed me," hissed the Nip.

"Did I, boy!" exclaimed Big Joe. "Jest wait till you tries to turn yo' head."

"How do you explain the shortage of meat?"

"I don't know, but you certainly can't blame the boys who make the drugstore sandwiches."

"I hear Joe's dad has two wives to support now."

"What! You don't mean he's a bigamist?"

"No. Joe just got married."

PLAYING FOR KEEPS

Government officials are reluctant to begin financing the war on a wholly compulsory basis. That means the grimmest of control over the every day affairs of the private citizen. America's bankers deserve much of the credit for delaying such control by their voluntary war financing efforts. And this is not all the banks have done.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau expressed appreciation for the part the banks are playing in the war, in no uncertain terms: "In this voluntary program the bankers of America have stood in the forefront. They have given the equivalent of 25,000 full-time employees to the sale and promotion of War Monds, and 85 per cent of the sales made have been through the banks. They have been fighting in the front lines of our battle on the home front by carrying out the restrictions . . . on consumer credit, by keeping a careful watch on all applications for non-essential loans, and by helping to freeze foreign funds on which the enemy might have used to spy upon our war effort, to sabotage our production, or to demoralize our people. They have given their time and energy to this effort without thought of any compensation except the knowledge that they were helping their country in its time of greatest need."

The average banker, like the average business man, farmer or worker, knows that we have one great thing to save out of the untold suffering and tragedy now being endured by the world—the right of the individual to start in again from scratch to paddle his own canoe. Liberty, economy and political, once lost either by military defeat or internal discord, would end that opportunity.

The best way to forget the cost of living is to live so that it's worth it.

Border Loop Is To Talk Rules

Basketball Schedule Is Likely to Be Reduced —Future Is Uncertain

The future of athletics in the Border Conference will be the subject of a special meeting in El Paso on November 29.

West Texas State will be represented by Dr. D. A. Shirley, chairman of the committee on athletics and vice-president of the conference, and by one or more coaches.

Rule changes, tne basketball schedule, and the status of athletics in the next long session will be determined. New Mexico A. & M. has announced discontinuance of athletics in wartime, including basketball Arizona U. has no gymnasium available, its building having been taken over for housing Army officers.

Sharp abridgment of the basketball schedule is likely. Some loosening of the rules to lengthen the list of eligible players may result.

The president of the Border Conference is Prof. W. L. Stangel of Texas Tech. Prof. C. Z. Lesher of the University is secretary-treasurer, and Dr. E. L. Larson of that institution is conference commissioner.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon McCarter and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hushey spent Sunday evening in Old Tascosa.

Dr. Roy Johnson Spoke Tuesday at Rotary Luncheon

Dr. Roy Johnson was in charge of the Rotary Club program Tuesday. He spoke on the dangers confronting the nation.

Members of the Buffalo football squad were guests of the club. Coach Gus Miller expressed the pleasure of the boys in being present.

Dr. Johnson used as a basis of his talk quotations from an address of a Presbyterian minister from Washington, D. C., who described conditions as they existed in that city.

"You don't get mad at the doctor when he tells you something is wrong and you must have an operation, so why should people get mad at the preacher who points to the evils of the nation," stated Dr. Johnson.

"The Lord will fail us if we ignore him," stated the Washington pastor, who enumerated conditions in high places in the nation's capital.

There has been a decline in spiritual interest in recent years, stated Mr. Johnson. Sometimes God must give us a licking to bring us back to our senses.

America has staggering wealth. We have only 1-15th of the world's population; spent a billion annually for theatre tickets; 1½ billions for tobacco; 5 billions for liquor; 7 billions for gambling. In the face of this we spent only 3-5th of a billion on all of the churches in America.

The Bible makes the difference between civilization and barbarism, stated the speaker. He deplored the greed which existed as between capital and labor—and between labor and capital.

Crime costs the nation 2% of the national income. 20% of the criminals are under 20 years of age. 98% of the crimes are against property, showing the greed of the nation.

The speaker called attention to the increase in divorces; of insanity; of veneral disease; all pointing to the trend within the nation.

The speaker declared that if we could fill the churches of America we would hasten the end of the war, and bring about a new day for America.

Another Tall Team Ready

Revision of Schedule November 29 Likely —Freshmen Are Strong

There are uncertainties in the basketball situation which make predictions difficult, but Coach Gus Miller of West Texas State is sure of one thing—this center of the cage sport and of tall teams has another strong squad, and a towering one.

True it is that All-American Price Brookfield, Frank Stockman, Jack Maddox, Charles Halbert, and others have been lost by graduation and other causes, but the current squad averages 6 feet 4½ inches in height and the Buffs could start a team averaging 6 feet 5½ inches. They are big fellows, averaging 183.3 pounds to the man. The shortest man are 6 feet 1 inch in height and the tallest is 6 foot 9 inch Ray Ellefson of Minneapolis, Minn.

Gone, too, is Athletic Director Al Baggett, developer of the tall teams here. Captain Baggett is director of physical training in the third Air Corps district, with headquarters at Tulsa, Okla.

Succeeding Baggett, who is away on leave, is Head Coach W. A. (Gus) Miller, who came to West Texas State from Texas Wesleyan College of Fort Worth. Miller's record for cage victories is one of the best in the nation. His Texas Wesleyan teams won 101 games and lost only 12 from 1937 to 1942. Previously, his Trinidad, Colo. high school cagers won 159 games and lost 35. His college clubs placed high in tournaments and knocked over teams from many bigger colleges and universities.

West Texas State cage veterans returning include Douglas Groom, forward; Ledru Jacobs, forward; Charles Johnson, guard; Clark Johnson, forward; Norman Trimble, guard; and Captain William Stockman, guard—all lettermen. The Johnson brothers, Jacobs, Trimble, and Groom constitute a high scoring team which has a background of big tournament experience.

But Coach Miller expects much, also, from a freshman squad now available under Border Conference rules. He calls it the greatest first year squad he has seen anywhere. Tallest of these is Ellefson, who may become a starter. Others are the Box brothers, Boyce and Cloyce; James Crews, a fine point-maker; Frank Cunningham, a whiz in his high school days at Childress, Texas; Eugene Keating, a Fort Worth product; and Metz LaFollette, 6 foot 4 inch forward from McKinney, Texas.

While this squad lacks some of the finesse which took the Tall Texans through 29 victories, and only six defeats last season, it has better reserves and is almost as tall.

A possible reduction in the Border Conference schedule may be made in El Paso November 29 when officials of this circuit meet to discuss the situation resulting from a desire of some members to drop sports for the duration. New Mexico Mines has made such a decision. There is a possibility that the conference may be sectionalized and a play-off arranged.

Games and Sing-Songs Fill Class Meeting Programs

Although little business was discussed in class meetings Friday morning, each class participated in various kinds of interesting programs.

Johnny Harter, program chairman for the Senior Class, led in the question and answer game, "Take It or Leave It!"

Juniors Discuss Play

After discussing the magazine sales of the past week and a letter from Herff-Jones Company concerning their senior rings, the Junior Class listened to a brief summary of "That Crazy Smith Family," Junior Play to be presented December 14.

Program chairman Vergie Ruth Haines presented a game, "Mr. District Attorney," to the Sophomore Class with Bobby Black, John Gill and Ellen Sanders playing the leading parts.

Freshmen Elect Chairman

Ray McDonald was elected program chairman of the Freshman Class, replacing Thelma Ruth Turner, who has withdrawn from school. Fawn Rogers and Evelyn Garrison led the class in the singing of songs.

Mrs. Corrah Lee Braudt, sponsor of the Eighth Grade, read several riddles to the class. Then Alice Prichard, accompanied by Norma Jo Currie at the piano, led a class sing-song.

Max Bellah was elected program chairman for the Seventh Grade. A skating party was planned for the last two periods of school Wednesday, November 25. The class, led by Phyllis Jean Hurst, gave descriptive paragraphs for their program.

THANKSGIVING

Some wandering people called Pilgrims journeyed to the New World in 1620 and after suffering a severe winter gathered bounteous crops. As a tribute to the One who made these harvest possible, they decided to hold a service of thanks to God and afterward, have a harvest feast. They gathered at their meeting-house on Thanksgiving Day, thanked Him for their bountiful harvest, and then shared with their Indian friends an enormous dinner served outdoors under some trees.

Because these historical people in that far-off time first returned thanks for a generous harvest and then held a feast, the American people today give special thanks to God, their heavenly Father, for His blessing on Thanksgiving Day.

During the current Thanksgiving season, we of America should be especially thankful for:

Freedom of religion, the main issue of the Pilgrims' journey.

The brave boys who are endeavoring to save our lives and customs.

Our president who is so faithfully performing his and many other duties toward the winning of this war.

The opportunity to learn in a free school.

Our friends.

A free country.

Students of Canyon High made a decided improvement in their War Bond and Stam purchases this week having added $69 to Uncle Sam's treasury.

Eagles Skirmish Calves Today

Practice Games Display Eagle's Improvement

Another basketball scrimmage with W. T. High's basketball quintet gave Canyon High's assemblage of cheerers a chance to exercise their lungs yesterday in the grade school gymnasium.

The sportlight was focused on Chic Wirt, center; Speedy Wright and J. Spencer Winn, forwards; Calvin Sanders and Max Bosley, guards.

Milton Sanders, coach, is planning a skirmish with ex-students attending West Texas State College soon.

Extra incentive was thrown on the session since the teams have each scored a victory over the other early in the season.

Minus his black curly locks of hair, Frank Sharman, 1942 graduate, visited Canyon High last Monday while home on a short vacation from Abilene Christian College.

"Why do you think Stalin expressed his views on Allied aid in a letter to the press, instead of thru diplomatic channels?"

"Perhaps he just wanted to see if he could outwit the censorship."

Sailing Satisfies Harrison

"No matter how soft and airy some civilian occupations may be, I wouldn't trade places with anyone," declares Hal Harrison, who since graduating from Canyon High School in 1940 has become one of the Navy's aviation ordnance men, a rank equal to the Army's staff sergeant.

In fact, so attached has Hal become to life as one of Uncle Sam's crew of sailors that he intends to ride the waves for 20 years more.

Two years in the Navy have added 35 pounds to his weight, a mustache to his lip and combat service to his experience. At present, he is stationed on the East Coast on patrol duty.

After six months at Pearl Harbor, Hal describes it as "no 'African Paradise' but a beautiful country which seems to be a mixing pot of all nationalities."

Considering the regular pay, thorough organization and wholesome food, which is, incidentally, prepared in great quantities for groups frequently totalling 30,000 men, it is no wonder that he now maintains that "civilian life is too slam-bangy."

Despite his travels, Sailor Harrison remains faithful to his hometown, which he says is just about the cleanest town in the 48 states flying the American flag. "It seems that the farther inland one goes, the more friendly the people are," he reports. "On the Coast, there seems to be so many men in the armed forces that the people pay no attention to them."

Although Hal claims he has never been sea-sick or air-sick, he doesn't hesitate to say that he's been plenty scared. More than that, he doesn't say much about the War.

"High school kids are getting smaller every year," swears Hal. "Canyon High's seniors are just little runts now."

Boy members of his own graduating class are now scattered in Canyon, Africa, Ireland and many other places, while most of the girls are married.

But he still feels he would have preferred a hard day's work to the time he spent in talking to the preflight class Wednesday afternoon.

Having seen active combat, and having been stationed on U. S. S. Saratoga, Hal was well informed on naval aircraft and aircraft carriers. He brought good news by saying that the American planes now held supremacy according to ratio with that of the Jap Zeros.

Ship Ahoy, Sailor Boy, your Alma Mater is backing you.

Program Features Varied Soloists

A musical "Victory Program" was presented by Miss Mary Roberts' department of music last night in the high school auditorium.

Five selections were played by the band. Johnny Harter then gave an interlude of saxaphone music, "Idaho" followed by Helen Studer's vocal song "Gianna Mia" from "Firefly." Anita Davis finish-the group of varieties with a piano solo, "Deep Purple."

The remainder of the program was given by special groups: one boys' and two girls' double trios and by the complete chorus.

Sick Studes Supply Spots for School

Dear me! Another student absent? How can we have classes with so many children gone?

No, no one has been playing hooky; it just seems that a great many of the grade pupils have had chicken-pox during the last month and sometimes as many as half of the class members have been absent.

Despite this handicap, $56.65 worth of Stamps and Bonds have been sold.

Mrs. A. L. Walsh's sixth grade led the grade school by buying $20.95 in War Stamps.

Scholars Receive Weekly Readers

Many of the pupils in Canyon Elementary School have subscribed to "My Weekly Reader," a paper for students in the first six grades.

Pupils in all grades are taking it and the sixth grade is 100 per cent for this periodical which, according to the grade for which it is intended, tells current news interestingly to the pupils.

FHT Girls Serve Buffet Luncheon

Learning through practice, the girls in the Homemaking II Class prepared and served a buffet meal today with Superintendent J. B. Speer and Miss Elva Fronabarger, principal of the grade school as their guests.

Directed by their student teacher from West Texas State College, Mrs. Maidelle Mitchell, the students planned the menu which partially carried out the Thanksgiving theme, with tuna a la king, cranberry salad, hot rolls with butter and individual pumpkin pies.

This meal completes the unit on foods which the girls have been studying.

It was a bright Sunday afternoon but the minister found Johnny sulking on the curb. Questioning revealed that Johnny had lost all his marbles to the neighborhood shark.

"Perhaps," suggested the minister, "that is your punishment for playing marbles on Sunday."

"Oh, heck," retorted Johnny. "What about the other kid?"

"The Darwinian theory seems to be pretty well accepted by now."

"Yes, but I understand that during the past few years the apes have begun a movement to disprove it."

Official Announces Vacation Holidays

Superintendent J. B. Speer gave students cause to rejoice when he announced November 26 and 27 as Thanksgiving holidays.

School was dismissed this afternoon and activities will be resumed Monday morning, November 30.

Hot Insects Bombard Mathematics Room

Duck for cover! Wasps are attacking again in the mathematics room!

These ferocious little monsters have, by fair means or foul, managed to build a nest in the radiator pipes of Miss Grace Clark's math room.

Making no allowances for rank, the wasps have attacked students and teachers alike. Preferences, however seem to be Earl Locke Neff, who has received no wounds but has been frightened several times, and Doris Ruth Meadows, who gets 'em in her hair and jumps up and down in mortal pain.

Secondary choices are Mrs. Guy B. Tabor, hard-working pedagogue; Evelyn Black, study hall debutante; and Lewis Hinders, senior scholar. (Of course, just because the wasps don't like them, it doesn't mean they aren't sweet).

Through the efforts of Canyon High School's janitor, I. H. Hollabough, the wasps have been almost exterminated, without having caused any serious illness.

Scrap Metal Buys Five New Books

With money earned through the sale of scrap metal, Mrs. L. M. Cousins' fourth grade ordered five picturesque fiction books for the class library table.

They are: "Little Cumsee in Dixie" by Kyser, "Debby" by Johnson, "Silver Widbeon" by Wood, "Farthest West" by Armer and "Round the Mulberry Bush" by Hill.

"We are extremely pleased with these books as they give the children example of geography and fiction at the same time," remarked Mrs. Cousins.

"My friends say its queer that I'm so fond of pancakes," she told the psychiatrist, "so they sent me to you."

"Well, that's not so odd," he remarked. "I'm very fond of them myself."

"Are you?" she replied, brightening. "Well, you must come over some day. I have seven trunks full."

"Are you a chess player?" inquired the landlord.

Yes. Why do you ask?" inquired the prospective tenant.

"I prefer to rent to them. They so seldom move."

Library Receives Book Shipment

For the first time in ten years the Canyon High School library has been replenished with a brand new set of encyclopedias.

Published by The Americana Corporation, "The Encyclopedia Americana" is the very latest of its kind, having been revised in 1942.

"How have you arranged to pay your income tax?"

"With wailing and gnashing of teeth."

Students Receive League Volumes

From an order several weeks ago, 45 students of the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades received books for outside reading points in English Monday morning.

Books ordered from the High School Book League were: "The General Died at Dawn" by Charles Booth, "The Moonstone" by Wilkie Collins, "Bobbie, General Manager" by Olive Higgins Proudy, "Take It Easy" by Damon Runyon and "Pygmalion," a drama by Barnard Shaw.

"For the price, the books are exceptionally well bound and the print is such that they will be easily read. This seems an unusually good opportunity for high school students to build a good home library," said Mrs. Guy B. Tabor, registrar and English instructor.

Actors Inaugurate Endless Practice

Practicing hard to get into the swing of "That Crazy Smith Family" are one dozen members of the Junior Class.

Try-outs were held November 16, and December 14 is the production night.

"Each actor and actress has begun to work hard, so that the play may be a great success," affirmed Mrs. James Jennings, class sponsor and director of the play.

Cardinals Defeat Eagle Cagemen

Second String Five Cinch First Victory of Season

Basketball rivalry again entered the sportlight of Canyon High School in full swing Friday night as the battling cagemen from Price Memorial College cinched a 23-14 victory over the first string Eagle hoopsters, while Canyon's second team forces tilted the final tally to 22-18 for their first victory of this season.

Flashy Eagle combators in the main fracas were Speedy Wright, J. Spencer Winn, forwards; Calvin Sanders and Max Bosley, guards; Chic Wirt, center; and George Black, substitute.

Starring in the controversy, Speedy out-paced the other defenders by dropping three field baskets and one free pitch.

Until the last four minutes of the highlighted bombardment, the Eagle quintet stayed within victory range, but by a terrific counter attack, the hustling Price squad pushed the score upward.

Outstanding for his five field shots, J. Ray Hunter led the secondary cagemen in the victorious skirmish.

What this country needs right now is day clubs for night workers.

Successful Season For Buffs As Coaches Count Their Chips

Head Coach W. A. Miller of West Texas State is counting his football blessings of 1942 and finding a considerable number of things on the right side of the ledger. His season has been completed.

The season ended Friday when the Buffs defeated the Lubbock Air School 14 to 6.

Principally, Miller can view with satisfaction a season which, like that of 1941, produced only two losses. Only Hardin-Simmons and Texas Tech topped the Buffs this year, while the locals won seven games. Five wins were in the Border Conference and two were over strong service teams. The season's record is as follows:

West Texas State 0, Texas Tech 39.

West Texas State 28, Arizona State of Tempe 0.

West Texas State 18, Albuquerque Air Base 13.

West Texas State 7, Texas Mines 0.

West Texas State 27, Arizona State of Flagstaff 7.

West Texas State 23, New Mexico Aggies 0.

West Texas State 0, Hardin-Simmons 40.

West Texas State 13, New Mexico U. 7.

West Texas State 14, Lubbock 6.

Freshman LeRoy Reeves of Childress came through to bolster a backfield which changed personnel in nearly every game. Reeves took a long lead in scoring and also gave the Buffs a potent passing game. Co-captains Joed Forbus and Johnny Thomas, guard and tackle, inspired a veteran line to superb performance. Forbus showed up as one of the conference's great guards after playing a powerful game in the backfield against Texas Tech.

Buford Emler, Buff end, stood out all season and at the end stood second in team scoring.

The West Texas State scoring chart for the season follows:

	TD	PAT	TP
Reeves, back	6	0	36
Emler, end	3	0	18
McMahan, back	2	0	12
Castleberry, back	2	0	12
J. W. Anderson, back	1	4	10
C. Kelley, back	1	0	6
Thomas, tackle	0	8	8
Willard Hedges, back	1	0	6
Vick, end	1	0	6
Winter, back	1	0	6
Curb, end	0	8	8
Bradford, back	0	2	2
Safety (N. M. Aggies)	0	0	2
Totals	19	14	130

It was the first season here for Coach Miller, who came from Texas Wesleyan College of Fort Worth. His assistant, W. W. Nicklaus, also here in his first season, formerly coached at Oklahoma Baptist University.

Campus Workers Turn to Fences To Protect Turf

In an effort to keep the students off the grass, campus workmen have put barbed wire fences across the favorite shortcuts. All requests were unheeded, and as a result, many noticeable trails began to show here and there about the campus.

Most of the cultivated turf on the campus is blue grass. This type is very tender and can easily be beaten out. Students probably have never fully realized that the College hires several men to care for the grass. If the students do not co-operate with these men, there will be no grass next spring.

Now that the trails have been fenced in, the campus men are busy this week pouring water on the beaten-out places.
